MANUFACTURERS OF LAP WELDED
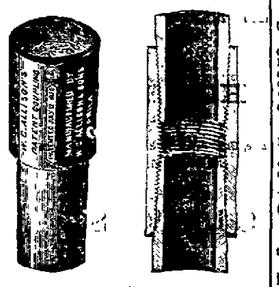
Tubing & Casing
Both Plain and Galvanized, for Oil and Salt Wells, American Charcoal Iron Boiler Tubes, Lap Welded Tubing for Steam and Water.



SOLE MANUFACTURERS OF
W. C. ALLISON'S
PATENT JOINT
Oil Well Tubing.
This Superior Tubing is furnished with heavy sockets and is cut with a vanishing screw thread, corresponding exactly with the thread in the socket, so that when screwed up it has a bearing the whole length of the joint and the absence of a deep thread on the tube at the end of the socket obviates the liability to break at that point from the vibration caused by the motion of the pump.
Each length and socket is stamped with our trade mark, and is carefully tested before shipment with a hydraulic pressure of 1,200 pounds to the square inch.

MANUFACTURERS OF
LAP-WELDED OIL WELL
Tubing & Casing.
We would call the particular attention of dealers and producers to this make of Tubing and Casing. One of the important features in the manufacture of our Tubing is, that the Lap and the Weld
are made perfectly straight, smooth and uniform, thereby giving equal and great strength to the tubing throughout.
Each joint carefully inspected, reamed at ends, and proved with the sockets on at a hydraulic pressure of 1,200 pounds to the square inch before shipment.
Each length stamped with our trade mark,
Diamond "B."

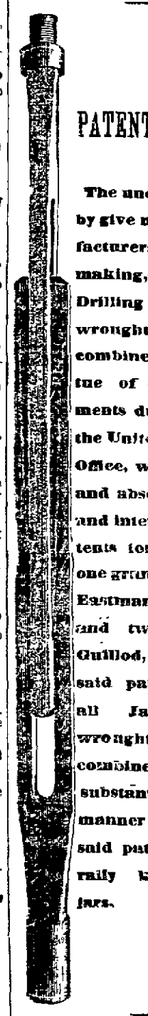
PATENT STEEL JARS.
The undersigned hereby give notice to manufacturers and parties making, selling or using Drilling Jars made of wrought iron or steel combined, that by virtue of certain assignments duly recorded at the United States Patent Office, we own the sole and absolute right, title and interest in three patents for Drilling Jars: one granted to James C. Eastman, in July, 1867, and two to Edward Guillod, in May, 1868; said patents covering all Jars made of wrought iron and steel combined, and applied substantially in the manner represented in said patents and generally known as steel jars.



Griffin's Patent
WATER PACKER!

This is one of the most useful Patents for oil operators ever invented.
It has several advantages over any other Seed Bag or water packer in use 1st. It can be put down quicker and is instantly ready for use as there is no waiting for seed to swell, and by its quick action the well is kept clean. 2d. It can never force a tubing or casing in a well so that it can not be taken out readily.

Beecher and Spurgeon.

THE AMERICAN EAGLE AND BRITISH LION.

Moses Foster Sweetser (Pelertine) went to hear Spurgeon while in England, and thus discourses upon each, and analyzes and soliloquises as follows in The Advance on the champion preachers of the two hemispheres: Sunday was a true London day, a steady and unwavering storm all day long. But one who has walked through eight steady hours of a Highland hurricane becomes thenceforth storm-proof; so, I went over and heard Spurgeon. With regard to the first idea arising in your mind—a comparison between him and Beecher, I would say no comparison could be made. They differ "as star differeth from star." In their different styles each is master. Beecher is brilliant, sparkling, amusing. Spurgeon is earnest, persuasive, convincing. Beecher tries to impress the world with the idea that he lives in an atmosphere of unbounded liberality to all true creeds. Spurgeon says nothing about that, but preaches such clear, calm, and love-dictated words that one knows that he has been with Christ, and hence must be liberal in thought and deed. Beecher takes a text, and by a score of apt and masterly, illustrative metaphors, throws forth its fullness. Spurgeon arrives at the same end by dint of powerful consecutive logic, twining closely about and upon the theme, until its meaning starts out sharply before the mind. Beecher preaches about "we" Spurgeon appeals to "thou." The one is elegant and graceful; the other is simple and strong; equally the one with the other glorious pillars in the temple of Christ's Church. As an orator or a writer Beecher is superior; as a preacher of the Word, I like Spurgeon. Mr Beecher went to England and Scotland during the darkest hours of our rebellion, and did us more service than 10,000 armed men, by dispelling the false mists and converting Britain to Union sentiment. Scores of times the people have spoken to me about his wonderful addresses. An old Scot told me that Beecher was speaking in a great hall in Edinburgh, when a Southern gentleman asked to be allowed to argue in the defense of the rebellion. "But the puir man, he didna hae muckle chance wi Mr. Beecher, an a' shouk the ha wa cheerin' for the Yankee preacher."

Three tiers of oval galleries surround the Tabernacle, with a vast triple amphitheatre in unbroken sweep about the whole church, for there is no organ to break the lines, and the preacher stands near the focus of the eclipse. From one end of the lower gallery a small curving platform projects, on which is a sofa and a book-rest. The furniture of the pulpit is but an open railing. With very little walking about and comparatively few gestures he stands at the edge of the curve with both hands on the rail before him, save when he removes his right hand for easy and suggestive gestures. In his earnest moments he leans over, meanwhile speaking in calm, low, impassioned words, as if he wanted to get closer to the mass of people before him, and to draw them nearer to him by the magnetism of his eye. These are the moments when the inevitable "thou" comes out with an imposing energy. Occasionally taking a step to his left he glances at a bit of white paper or turns the leaves of the Bible lying on a low stand near by. His text was, "Wilt thou be made whole," Christ's words to the impotent man at Bethesda, and though his sermon had not the glow and sparkle of Beecher, nor the ponderosity of Chapin, it had a ponderosity different from all these, yet not less powerful. There seemed to be but two in the church—the rebel against God's just law and the delegate of the Mediator, offering pardon to the penitent, asking for Christ's sake, "Wilt thou be made whole?" The singing, though without instrumental aid, was grand. It is world-renowned, the great model for all congregational singing.

What he Knows of Farming.

This is the way in which a writer in the Cincinnati Times, who has been lured into agricultural pursuits by a perusal of Mr. Greeley's prose poem, gives his views of the tiller's occupation:

The basest fraud of earth is agriculture. The deadliest ignus fatuus that ever glittered to beguile and dazzled to betray, is agriculture. I speak with feeling on this subject, for I've been glittered and beguiled and dazzled and destroyed by this same arch deceiver.

She has made me a thousand promises, and broken every one of them.

She has promised me early potatoes, and the rain has drowned them; late potatoes, and the drouth has withered them.

She has promised me summer squashes, and the worms have eaten them; winter squashes, and the bugs have devoured them.

She has promised cherries, and the curculio has stung them, and they contain live things, uncomely to the eye and unsavory to the jaws.

She has promised strawberries, and the young chickens have enveloped them, and the eye cannot see them.

She has promised tomatoes, and the old hens have encompassed them, and the hand cannot reach them.

No wonder Cain killed his brother. He was a tiller of the ground. The wonder is that he didn't kill his father, and then weep because he hadn't a grandfather to kill. No doubt his early rose potatoes, for which he paid Adam seven dollars a barrel, had been cut down by bugs from the head waters of the Euphrates. His Pennsylvania wheat had been winter-killed, and wasn't worth cutting. His Norway oats had gone to straw and would not yield five pecks per acre, and his black Spanish watermelons had been stolen by boys who had pulled up the vines, broken down his patent picket fence, and written scurrilous doggerel all over his back gate. No wonder he felt mad when he saw Abel whistling along with his fine French merinoes, worth eight dollars a head, and wool going up every day. No wonder he wanted to kill somebody, and thought he'd practice on Abel.

And Noah's getting drunk was not at all surprising. He had become a husbandman. He had thrown away magnificent opportunities. He might have been a monopolist of any branch of business. Had he studied medicine there would not have been another doctor within a thousand miles to call him "quack;" and every family would have bought a bottle of "Noah's Compound Extract of Copher Wood and Anti Deluge Syrup." As a politician he might have carried his own ward solid, and controlled two-thirds of the delegates in every convention. As a lawyer, he would have been retained in every case tried at Ararat quarter session, or the Ark high court of admiralty. But he threw away all these advantages and took to agriculture. For a long time the ground was so wet that he could raise nothing but sweet flag and bull rushes, and these at least become a drug in the market. What wonder that when at last he did get half a peck of grapes that were not stung to death by Japhet's honey bees, he should have made wine and drowned his sorrows in a "flowing bowl."

The fact is, agriculture would demoralize a saint. I was almost a saint when I went into it. I'm a demon now. I'm at war with everything. I fight myself out of bed at four o'clock, when all my better nature tells me to be still till seven. I fight myself into the garden to work like a brute, when reason and instinct tells me to stay in the house and enjoy myself like a man. I fight the pigs, the chickens, the moles, the birds, the bugs, the worms; everything in which is the breath of life. I fight the docks, the burdocks, the mullens, the thistles, the grapes, the weeds, the roots—the whole vegetable kingdom. I fight the heat; the frost, the rain, the hail—in short, I fight the universe and get whipped in every battle. I have no more admiration to waste on the father of George Washington for forgiving the destruction of his cherry tree. A cherry tree is only a curculio nursery, and the grandfather of his country knew it. I have half a dozen cherry trees, and the day my George Washington is six years old I'll give him a hatchet and tell him to down with every cherry tree on the place.

An Indian Pay-Day.

The scenes at an Indian payment have been often described, and indeed too many residents of the country are familiar from actual experience. But the filth and finery, the hideousness which they call beauty, the songs that are sung, the games that are played, the races that are run, the oddity and savagery of it may bear repetition. The majority of the Indians know little, and care much less, about how or why their annuities are paid. Twice a year for a long time they have received from seventeen to twenty dollars at the hands of a long-suffering agent. Twice a year they have marched up to their guardian's office, with the small bundle of sticks which represent the family increase, and without much argument received so much per head; and twice per year has each one become solemnly and stupidly, or insanely and riotously, drunk, and that was the last of it until the next time. Payment is not an interesting event to an Indian alone. Hither come all his creditors, and with a sagacity developed in the course of a long practice, they forestall the annuity of the debtor and all his heirs, from his grandfather down to his youngest and fairest. Indians die; they may be said to die extensively, and I came near saying repeatedly. But no little Indian was long left without a guardian, and no estate goes to waste for want of an administrator. And these are all at the payment. The Indians, of all grades of enlightenment, but each essentially Indian, arrive from all parts of the country early in the forenoon. They stand demurely by the dilapidated fence, or ride furiously up and down the village street. Each wear the inevitable speckled shirt and the usual gaudy ribbon. The mighty army of guardians and administrators, with a sprinkling of agents and traders, sit hard by under a tree, and whittle, and swatch, and listen. Ever and anon, from the door, is called the name of some warrior or squaw, and if the individual does not appear, there is certain to be a vacancy in the circle of administrators. They are all accounted for. In the afternoon the effects of the payment begin to be visible. There is much more happiness generally distributed through the surviving members of the tribe than there was. A drunken Indian is the most peculiar of bipeds. He rolls the sweet liquid over his tongue with a comical gusto, a grotesque happiness, which he never shows save in this supreme moment. The squaw is invariably as drunk as her lord, and she is generally the most silent, becomes then the most noisy of the two. She asserts the rights of the family, and abuses, to the extent of her small store of English, the men and the institutions of the dominant race. These, with the supposed quantum of head-ache and remorse, are the prominent features of an Indian payment.—Kansas City Record.

Curious Behavior of Chimneys.

A correspondent of the Hartford Times writing from Richfield Springs, (N. Y.,) relates the following anecdote:

* * * * * * The sulphur spring is situated upon a rise of ground perhaps ten or twelve feet above the surroundings. The water comes out of the rocks, and is so perfectly clear, that the smallest object can be seen at the bottom. The temperature of the water is 48 deg., summer and winter. After giving the analysis he proceeds as follows:

I cannot close this letter better than by relating an anecdote that occurred in 1820, at the time the Doctor developed the source of the spring. Strangers will be forcibly struck with the strong smell of sulphuretted hydrogen gas emitted by this spring. (It smells like rotten eggs) It was particularly exemplified in the experience of a stranger traveling on horseback, who was approaching the spring. Observing a white flag which was raised on a pole by the laborers employed in fitting up the spring, the stranger inquired of a man standing in the door of a public house half a mile from the spring, if that flag was the sign of small pox? The man addressed being something of a wag said, "Perhaps it is." "Well," said the traveller, "is there no way by which I can go around and give small pox a wide berth?" Said the man, "You will have to go some eight miles out of the way. But I can tell you how you can pass the flag, small pox and all, in perfect safety; just ride on within fifty rods of the flag, and then hold your breath till you get fifty rods beyond the spring, and you will be perfectly safe." The traveler did as directed. When he supposed he had reached within fifty rods of the spring, he seized his nose with one hand and put the good on with the other. His horse made rapid bounds, and he, a quixotic figure, attracted the gaze of the laborers, who stood astonished. But when just opposite the spring he could no longer hold his breath. He loosened the hold of his nose and took a snuff of the sulphuretted hydrogen gas. "O God!" he shrieked, "I've catched it!" He seized his nose again and passed out of sight. Whether he died of small pox or what became of him was never known.

A Remarkable Young Pedestrian.

The Galveston (Texas) News, of the 21st ult, says: A little fellow about eleven years old, named Charley Burrows, came tramping into town on Sunday morning, having walked most of the way, in bare feet, from Kansas City to Houston. He is a bright, cheerful little lad, and quite handsome, even in his tattered, travel stained dress and bare feet, and tells his story in a straightforward, manly way. He says his father and mother died about two years ago, since which time, up to his tramp, he lived with a farmer near Kansas City. The man's wife abused him, and he decided to leave and go to a cousin's, who lives about three miles south of Houston. He had no money to ride, so he determined to foot it. He took his best suit, and one evening started. When he reached the city near his home, people told him Houston was a thousand miles away, but he thought he could walk it, and begging a little to eat, he started. He came into the Indian nation at Fort Smith, and these people told him the Indians would not hurt him, but the distance to Red River was too much for him. He travelled alone a great deal of the time; sometimes with emigrants going to Texas, sleeping with them at night, or along the road. Three times he slept beside an Indian, and once in the woods alone.

He could not tell what time he started, but says the "leaves had come out a little" when he crossed the Arkansas river. He says people were "good to him" along the route, and adds that "a litter man with specs on, who lived in Waxahachie, gin him some money to buy a pair of shoes," and a "girl in Dallas gave him a pair of socks and a handkerchief." He had the handkerchief tied about a sore hand yesterday. He says he had to "wait two days at one creek before a man came along to take him over." He started on the last ten miles of his tramp about noon yesterday. A purse was made for him by a few gentlemen who heard his story, and he started off bright and happy. This is, indeed, a long tramp for a boy like that, and we only wonder that he accomplished it, when we look back at the long stretch of hot, dusty distance, reaching through the State and the Indian nation.

Married Without Knowing It.

A Mr. Thomas Cooper, an Englishman, has published an account of his travels in Thibet, which he visited disguised as a Chinaman. Among his stories is the following:

He was just halting for breakfast, after leaving the Thibetian town of Bathang, when a group of young girls, gayly dressed and decked with garlands of flowers, came out of a grove and surrounded him, some of them holding his mule, while others assisted him to alight. He was then led into a grove, where he found a feast being prepared, and after he had eaten and smoked his pipe, the girls came up to him again, "pulling along in their midst a pretty girl of sixteen, attired in a silk dress and adorned with garlands of flowers." "I had already noticed," Mr. Cooper continues, "this girl sitting apart from the others during the meal, and was very much astonished when she was reluctantly dragged up to me, and made to seat herself by my side; and my astonishment was considerably heightened when the rest of the girls began to dance around us in a circle, swinging and throwing their garlands over myself and my companion." The meaning of this performance was, however, soon made clear to Mr. Cooper. He had been married without knowing it. At first he tried to escape the liability entailed upon him; but such an outcry was made by all the people around that he was forced to carry off his bride. He managed to get rid of her before very long by transferring her to one of her relations, but even that was not treated as a dissolution of the marriage. On his way back he was joined one day by a Thibetan dame, of about thirty years old, who announced herself as his wife's mother, and said she had come, with the consent of her husband, to supply her daughter's place. We can well imagine Mr. Cooper's surprise at meeting with this novel proposal on the part of his mother-in-law.

Charles Reade's Ideal Dwelling House.

We have already noted Charles Reade's protest against "the thing we call a house." The following is a part of the general remedy which he proposes:

It is a sure sign man is not an artist, if instead of repairing his defects, he calls an intellectual superior to counteract them. The fire-escape is creditable to its inventor, but disgraceful to the builders. They construct a fire trap without an escape; and so their fellow-citizens are to cudgel their brain and supply the builders' want of intelligence and humanity by an invention working from the street. The fire-escape can after all save but a few of the builders' victims. The only universal fire-escape is—the rational roof.

To be constructed thus: Light iron staircases from the third floor to top floor and rational roof. Flat roof or roofs, metal covered, with scarcely precoptible fall from centre. Open joints and iron girders, the latter sufficiently numerous to keep the roof from falling in, even though fire should gut the edifice. An iron-lined door, surmounted by a skylight; from staircase up to this door, which opens rationally on the rational roof. Large cistern or tank on roof, with a force-pump to irrigate the roof in fire or summer heats. Round the roof iron rails set firm in balcony, made too hard for burns to climb, and surmounted by spikes.

EXCURSION TO NIAGARA.

The great attractive feature of this convention will be the excursion to Niagara Falls. The Executive Committee has determined to make this a part of the programme. The Northern Central Railroad Company has agreed to run a special train from Williamsport to the Falls, at excursion rates, as will be seen from the following letter from J. N. Du Barry, Esq., Vice President of the road.

NORTHERN CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.
OFFICE OF THE VICE PRESIDENT.
HARRISBURG, PA., June 24, '71.

Rev. A. R. Horne, Williamsport, Pa.

DEAR SIR: In answer to your question in regard to a special train from Williamsport to Niagara and return, leaving Williamsport, Thursday p. m., 10th of August, arriving at Niagara, Friday a. m.—Leaving Niagara, Friday p. m., 10th of August, and reaching Williamsport, Saturday a. m.—would say—that we will engage to run the train as above, at excursion rate, provided not less than 400 tickets are sold for the train. Truly yours,

J. N. DU BARRY,
Vice Pres.

The distance from Williamsport to Niagara Falls is 213 miles. The regular running time is 12 hours. The fare will be about $8. If 400 tickets are sold, (and it is thought by many that twice that number can be sold) the excursion train can be secured. By this arrangement, the Association can regulate its own time. We can leave Williamsport at 7 p. m. on Thursday and arrive at the Falls at 7 a. m., spend the day there, and leave at 7 p. m. on Friday, reaching Williamsport by 7 a. m. on Saturday morning, in time to take the trains east and west, reaching Erie at 9 p. m., Pittsburg at 8 p. m., Philadelphia at 5 p. m., Allentown at 3 p. m., Scranton at 2 p. m., giving members ample time to reach their homes at the remotest parts of the State by Saturday night, after spending three days at the Association and one day at Niagara Falls.

If the Association prefer to hold a session on Thursday evening, this can be done, and the excursion party leave Williamsport at 11 p. m. on Thursday, reaching Niagara at 11 a. m. on Friday, in time for dinner, giving the excursionists eight hours at the Falls and returning at 7 p. m., reaching Williamsport on Saturday morning at 7, the same as by the foregoing plan.

The opportunity afforded the teachers of Pennsylvania for visiting the Falls, and enjoying a view of the greatest wonder on the Continent, will be such a one as may be enjoyed but once in a lifetime, and at an expense of probably not more than $12, or including the fare to, and three day's stay at the meeting of the Association at Williamsport, $25. It is confidently expected that from 800 to 1,000 of the teachers of Pennsylvania will come.

HOTEL RATES.

The hotels of Williamsport have, without exception, reduced their rates to the lowest figures at which they can furnish first class board and accommodation. Their figures are low, when it is remembered that they are first class houses, and that there will be no crowding nor inferior accommodations. The following are the rates agreed upon:

Herdic House.
First floor, per day	$2 25
Second floor, "	2 50
Third floor, "	2 14
City Hotel, "	2 00
American Hotel, "	1 50
Hepburn House, "	2 00
U. S. Hotel, "	1 50
Central Hotel, "	2 00

Boarding houses and private homes from $1 00 to $1 50.

About 200 can be accommodated at the Herdic House, and from 200 to 300 at the other hotels. This will give us hotel accommodation for about 500. Five hundred more can be accommodated at boarding houses and private houses, giving us comfortable accommodations for at least 1,000.

LOCAL COMMITTEE.

The following persons have been appointed a local committee, whose duty it will be to secure accommodations, make the necessary local arrangements, and wait upon members of the Association on their arrival and conduct or direct them to the hotels: Rev. A. R. Horne, City Superintendent, Chairman; J. J. Metzger, D. N. Rook, Rev. Wm. Sterling, D. S. Anders, S. S. Sweely, B. S. Bently, Jr., and Prof. J. F. Davis, members of the School Board; Mr. D. Longsdorf, Rev. Prof. S. Transeau, Miss Myra S. Taylor, Miss Mary L. Gable, Mr. G. R. Winkler, Miss Jennie Reighard, Miss Ella O'Brien, Miss Sadie A. Flory, Miss F. S. Nash, Teachers.

Superintendents, Principals of Schools, and Teachers will please inform Rev. A. R. Horne, Williamsport, Pa., by the 1st of August, of the probable number of persons from their district who may accompany the excursion to Niagara Falls. This is necessary as the railway company will make ample arrangements for the comfort of the excursionists, and it is important for the officers of the road to know how many coaches will be needed. Tickets for the round trip will be in readiness for as many as give us notice of their intention of going by the first day of the meeting of the Association. Those who do not give us timely notice to this effect may be subjected to inconvenience and inferior accommodations. All who make application prior to August 1st, will have first class cars and plenty of room guaranteed.

Rooms and good hotel accommodations may also be secured at any of the above named houses, or in private families, by addressing the undersigned, at an early day.

Papers throughout the State will please copy this article, and call attention to the subject, as well as urge teachers and friends of education to attend.

A. R. HORNE,
Chairman of Committee.

New York News.

NEW YORK, July 7.

Mrs. Justin Carter appeared at police headquarters and stated her husband and son were missing, and she feared Carter, who is a hard drinker, had drowned himself and son.

The horse plague has interfered seriously with car travel to-day. On the East Broadway, Third, Sixth, and Eighth avenue roads the cars do not pretend to run regular trips, and Fifth avenue stages are making theirs at considerable intervals. The disease is still increasing.

Cholera infantum is prevailing to a great extent in Brooklyn.

The hot weather has developed a new form of cholera, resembling dysentery and yellow fever in its symptoms, and so far, three cases have occurred. The symptoms in all were the same, excessive purging high fever, and bloody discharge, indicative of virulent dysentery, and black vomit, which accompanies yellow fever.

The Convention of Irish Societies held a secret meeting this evening to consider what action they should take in regard to the anticipated Orange procession on the 12th inst. It is understood that the convention was in favor of first invoking the interference of the Mayor, then if the procession were allowed, to attack and break it up.

Suicide.

CLEVELAND, July 7.

George H. Chandler, of the firm of Chandler & Abbott, grocers, doing business at 86 Monumental Park, made a desperate attempt at suicide this morning. From appearances he first cut his throat with a penknife, and then tried to shoot himself with a revolver, which was found near him with three chambers empty.

A Tornado.

A special to the Herald from Youngstown, Ohio, says: A tornado passed five miles south of here yesterday about 4 p. m. Its course was from west to east. At Boardman Centre the Disciple Church was moved round about six inches on its foundation, trees, fences and chimneys were blown down, and a barn was unroofed, etc. At Canfield and Poland damage was done of a like nature. It crossed the Erie and Pittsburgh Railroad at Wampum, and the evening train from Pittsburgh was delayed about an hour to cut away the trees which had fallen on the track. Heavy rain and sharp lightning accompanied the wind.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, July 7.

On special inquiry at the Department of Agriculture to-day, it was officially ascertained that there has been no analysis of the cotton report for July, not more than three-quarters of them having been received, and none from Texas and other distant States.

The President is expected to reach Washington Monday evening next, and return to Long Branch Tuesday evening. He will thereafter visit Ohio and other parts of the west, and on the fifteenth of August will proceed to California. Dr. Norton, of the army, with others, will accompany him.

The Civil Service Commission to-day continued the consideration of the subjects introduced at the previous session, especially that upon competitive examinations, in regard to which the Commissioners are making extended inquiries as to how well the system works where it has been adopted.

Postmaster-General Cresswell returned to-day from a visit to Maryland.

Letters received at the Internal Revenue Office from Supervisors Foulke and King, report that great difficulty is experienced in collecting the revenue in the Districts of Arizona and Dakota by reason of the hostility of the Indians of those territories, rendering travel insecure. In Dakota the steamer for the west plying on the Mississippi River was attacked by Indians a few days ago and riddled by bullets.

The Ku Klux investigating Committee to-day examined Jos. H. Speed, of Alabama, an ex-confederate officer, and now a regent of the State University and Superintendent of Education in Perry county. He testified that the section of Alabama in which he resides was quiet and peaceable till last winter, when bands of armed and disguised men began to commit outrages of various kinds. This state of affairs continued for a while, but recently, so far as witness knows, things have been quiet throughout the State. The result of the occurrences above referred to had been to excite general terror among the colored people and make them afraid to vote. In regard to the education of negroes, he said the only opposition to it came from the lower class of whites, the former owners of slaves being strongly in favor of it. General and impartial education. The committee also examined Alfred Richardson, (colored), a resident of Clark county, and formerly a member of the Legislature. He testified that in January last a band of disguised men, whom he believed to be Ku Klux, came to his house and fired at and wounded him. He returned the fire, wounding one of his assailants mortally, whereupon they retired. He knew no cause for the attack, and said that whipping and similar outrages still continue in that vicinity, and have created such terror that many negroes living in isolated places have broken up their homes and have gone for safety to towns where they have nothing to do and suffer distress.

The United States Minister at Brussels on the 23d inst., reported to the Department of State that much inconvenience is just now being experienced by Americans entering France and Belgium. Passports with the visa of the Belgium Consul, are required of all persons entering Belgium from France or England, though none are required of those entering from the east. All American passports, except those issued at the United States Legation, at Brussels, are required to have the American Consul's visa before the French Consul will visa them. Ladies traveling alone without passports are sent back from the French frontier, and a wife accompanying her husband is not allowed to pass unless she is named in the passport, or has some means of satisfying the officer that she is a wife.

Dr. W. C. Johnson, a well known American physician in Paris, states that the reports of the mortality in that place have been much exaggerated. The sanitary condition of Paris is satisfactory, and no epidemic prevails. Statistics show the city more healthy than London in proportion to the population, and the death rates are not so great as at the same time last year.

In order to prevent the introduction into the United States of the cattle disease known as the hoof and mouth disease, prevailing in Chili and Argentine Republic, orders have been issued that no cattle or hides shall be allowed to enter United States ports from those countries unless accompanied by an invoice having the Consul's certificate that he is satisfied that the importation is free from disease.

The Surveyor of Customs at St. Joseph Mo., has been authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury to issue enrollments and licenses to vessels engaged in the coasting trade on the Missouri River.

Theodore Adams, of Philadelphia, has been appointed Superintendent of work upon the new State Department building. Excavations are progressing and will be completed early in August.

Ex-Congressman Brown received a telegram last evening from a friend at Long Branch, stating that the pardon in his case would be forwarded by to-day's mail.

An unauthenticated report prevails that New York officers are here waiting Bowen's release, when, it is said, he will be again arrested upon a requisition from Governor Hoffman to answer the charge of mutilating the court records of that State.

The races between the Olympics and Kekiongas, of Fort Wayne, this afternoon, was won by the former. Score, 32 to 11. The batting on the part of the Olympics was generally strong and safe, and a great many second and third base hits were made. In the sixth innings the Olympics made eighteen runs. The fielding was very loose on the part of the Kekiongas, and Mincher, their left fielder, was so seriously injured that he was compelled to retire from the game. This accident, together with the crippled condition of Lennon, catcher, contributed greatly the demoralization of the Injun nine. A questionable decision of the umpire in the sixth innings appeared to take the nerve out of the Kekiongas, who played listlessly and miserably until the close of the game.

Weather Report.

WASHINGTON, July 7.

The barometer has fallen somewhat on the Pacific Coast and still more at the Rocky Mountain stations. An area of low pressure is probably developing in Minnesota, where a heavy rain is now reported. The low barometer of Thursday evening over Lake Huron has moved eastward and is now central over the Bay of Fundy. A light rainfall during the night. Partially cloudy and clear weather to day prevailed with fresh westerly winds increasing to a brisk blow at New York city and Rochester. The barometer continues highest in Florida, but is lower than Thursday evening. Brisk southwest winds have continued in the Southwestern States and brisk easterly winds have prevailed at Key West. During the day fresh west and northwest winds prevailed from Tennessee to the lakes. Partially cloudy and pleasant weather are probable for Saturday in the Middle and Eastern States. The disturbance west of Wisconsin will probably extend to Lake Huron by Saturday, but dangerous winds are not apprehended for any great extent of country. A severe local storm is probable for Southern Iowa for to-night, and southerly winds with threatening weather will extend over Alabama and Georgia by Saturday noon.

Toledo Races.

TOLEDO, O., July 7.

The adjourned race of yesterday for horses that had never beaten 2 30, was concluded to-day, resulting in a victory for Red Cloud, of Elmburch, Ind., in two straight heats. Time, 2. 6 and 2 30¼.

The double team race was won by Three White Heels and Novelty, of Toledo, in two straight heats. Time, 3 05 and 3:03. Soldier Boy and Arthur Boy, of Louisville, Ky., took second money.

In the last race, open to all, there were ten entries. Pilot Temple, of St. Louis, won in three straight heats. Time, 2:29¼, 2.29 and 2:29½, with Matt Smith, of Louisville, Ky., second, John Fero, of Detroit, third, and Silas Rich, of St. Louis, fourth.

The weather during the races has been favorable and the attendance large.

Church Burned.

HYANNIS, Mass., July 7.

The Universalist Church, in this place, was struck by lightning this morning and entirely consumed by fire. Loss, $20,000; no insurance.

Drowned.

YANKTON, D. T., July 7.

Joseph Wood, a deck hand on the steamboat May Lowery, was drowned at the wharf at this place last night.

Editorial Excursion Party.

CHICAGO, July 7.

An editorial excursion party will start from this city next week, consisting, besides others, of the following gentlemen: Bayard Taylor, of the New York Tribune; Gov. Hawley, of the Hartford Courant; Col. Thomas Knox, of the New York Herald; Mr. Bryant, of the Springfield, Mass., Republican; Gov. Bross, of the Chicago Tribune; George Jones, of the New York Times; Major Bundy, of the New York Mail, etc. The party will first proceed to Duluth, via Lakes Huron and Superior, thence they will proceed via Northern Pacific Railroad to its present termination, thence return to St. Paul, thence via rail and stage to Breckinridge, on the Red River of the North, thence by steamer to Lake Winnepeg. It is expected about one month will be exhausted by the trip. As each of the editors will probably write up the voyage for his paper, the public will probably get a large amount of valuable information in regard to the resources of this important section of our continent.

Accidental Death.

Anthony Mercer, while bathing in Lake Michigan, on Wednesday evening, dived from the breakwater and struck his head in the sand with such violence as to cause his death early this morning.

Special Election.

Gov. Palmer issued a proclamation today for a special election in this State, on the 7th of November next, for the choice of a Congressman at large to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John A. Logan, elected United States Senator.

Fire.

A fire occurred early on Sunday morning last at Linning, Iowa, which destroyed property valued at $15,000, with an insurance of $6,000. Twelve buildings were destroyed, including the Chronicle office. The fire commenced in a stable connected with Farrell's Hotel.

Killed.

Robert Wilde, a blacksmith, fell from a fourth story window of Germania Hotel, at Dubuque, Wednesday night, and was instantly killed. He had been drinking, but was not regarded as being intoxicated.

The Texas Cattle Trade.

The East Albine (Kansas) Chronicle gives the following as the most accurate figures of the Texas cattle trade this season: There are now near the line of the Kansas Pacific Railroad 125,000 head; passed Red River Station, to be driven on that line, 100,000; for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, 50,000; for the Missouri River, Fort Scott and Gulf Railroad, 75,000; for the Union Pacific, 50,000, to be wintered in Kansas and Colorado, 50,000; Missouri, Kansas and Texas, 50,000. This is lower than all previous estimates, though it is larger than any previous year.

Base Ball.

The match game of base ball to-day between the Red Stockings, of Boston, and the White Stockings, of Chicago, resulted in a victory for the Whites by a score of 7 to 1.

Bridge Building Under Difficulties.

ST. PAUL, July 7.

A large mob from Stillwater, with four steamboats, came down to Hudson this evening and commenced pulling the piles driven by the West Wisconsin Railroad for a bridge at that place. The bridge was commenced without provisionary legislation by the State of Minnesota. A pile driver will be kept running all night, and it is claimed they can drive faster than the others can pull out. This is a new development regarding the West Wisconsin connection.

Charred Remains Discovered.

The charred remains of a man and wife, names unknown, were found in the burned ruins of their house in Clay county, a few days ago. Nothing is known of the origin of the fire.

New Hampshire Legislature.

CONCORD, N. H., July 7.

The Senate, this afternoon, after a heated debate, passed the resolution offered by Denis, that a committee of two be appointed by the President to visit Manchester during adjournment, view the city, and hear their report on Tuesday next as to the necessity for a change in its ward lines. Smith acted with the Republicans throughout. Charges against Senator Smith for infidelity and non-fulfillment of pledges to the Democrats previous to his election, in the form of affidavits from several interviewing partizans, are already made out and in type in this city ready to be promulgated when it is thought advisable.

Army and Navy Reunion.

NEWPORT, July 7.

The Society of the Army and Navy of the Gulf held their third annual meeting in the Academy of Music to-day. Lieut. Gen. Sheridan, Senior Vice President, presided. A resolution by Rear Admiral Bailey declaring Lieut. Gen. P. H. Sheridan President, by a viva voce vote, was unanimously adopted, and the following named gentlemen were elected Vice Presidents in like manner: Rear Admiral Theo. Bailey, representing the navy; Major General W. H. Emery, representing the army. Resolutions of respect to the late Admiral Farragut were adopted.

Died from Eating Clams.

BOSTON, July 7.

James Frahil and James Joy, of Lynn, died last evening from eating raw clams, which they dug on the Chelsea beach. Wm. Dyer and Thos. Donnelly were also seriously effected, but will probably recover.

Wakefield Hall.

Cyrus Wakefield has given $100,000 to Harvard College for the erection of a Recitation Hall, with dormitories, to be called Wakefield Hall.

Straw Paper Manufacturers.

HUDSON, N. Y., July 7.

The straw paper manufacturers of this county held a convention at Chatham village, yesterday, at which nearly every mill was represented. After fully discussing the matter, it was unanimously resolved in view of the present high price of straw and low price of paper to run the mills only half time for the coming year, dating from the 1st of August next.

Long Branch Races.

LONG BRANCH (N. J.), July 7.

The first race to-day for the July stakes, $1,150, three-fourths of a mile, was won by Hubbard; Malitis second. Time, 122. The second race for the American Club purse of $2,500, all ages, mile heats, best three in five, was a most exciting contest. Littleton won the first heat, Susan Ann the second and Chillicothe the third, fourth, fifth and sixth.

Suicide.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 7.

W. B. Ewyn, traveling agent for the hat house of Simpson & Co., New York, committed suicide at Lone Oak, Prairie county, Thursday, by taking an overdose of morphine. He left an affectionate letter to his wife at Jackson, Tenn. Financial embarrassments appear to have been the cause. He had no money on his person, and was buried by the citizens.

The Crops.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., July 7.

Reports from all parts of the State show the wheat crop is much better than was anticipated, and the total product will be little short of last season. California potatoes of this year's crop are being shipped to Denver, Colorado, and paying three hundred and forty dollars per car load of ten tons.

Accident to J. D. Morrill.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 7.

Hon. J. D. Morrill was thrown from a carriage last evening, near this place, and very seriously injured. His skull was fractured and back sprained. His physicians think he will recover if no internal injuries have been received, but the accident entails long confinement.

Balloon Wrecked.

OSWEGO, N. Y., July 7.

Prof. Coe, who made a balloon ascension here on the 4th of July, has just been heard from by telegraph from Irish Creek, Ontario. He landed in personal safety ninety miles beyond the St. Lawrence River, but the balloon is a total wreck.

Injunction Case Decided.

PORTLAND, Me., July 7.

The injunction case of the Boston and Maine Railroad vs. the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Railroad was decided this morning in favor of the Buffalo and Maine.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE MORNING HERALD,
TITUSVILLE, July 7, 1871—9 P. M.

The market was a shade firmer again to-day, but there was but little doing, and buyers generally are not disposed to pay prices asked. Upon the Lower Creek from $4.85 to $4.90 was bid, with sellers holding at $4.95. Upon the Upper Creek $4.65 was the ruling bid, with sellers holding at $4.70 and $4.75.

N. B.—In the above stocks in Philadelphia are not included the quantities in the hands of the local refiners, comprising crude, distilled and refined.

REMARKS.

Since our last circular of the 27th ultimo, our market for refined oil has been moderately active, and at the close prices show much firmness, and receivers offering to sell very sparingly.

Crude oil, in bulk, has met with a good demand. Several cargoes of barreled oil have been sold for export to the Continent.

Naphtha has been in better demand, with sales of 5,000 barrel for export.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Money and Stock Market.

NEW YORK, July 7.

Gold has been weak, and there seems to be no confidence felt in a further advance at present. It declined to 1.13 during the day, and closed at 1.12¾.

Exports to-morrow will be light.

The cable announcement of the increase of specie in the Bank of France helped to depress the market in the forenoon. 1 per cent was paid for carrying, and in the afternoon 2 and 2¾ per cent.

Clearances $47,500,000.

Government bond market was heavy and lower at the close in sympathy with the decline in gold. A revival of stories that the Government had placed a large amount of new 5 per cents in London failed to arrest the downward course.

The prices in stocks have been dull and strong, except Rock Island, which continues to drag on the market. Reading and Lake Shore are the strongest stocks on the list, and Rock Island weakest, having gone down to 107¾, the lowest point since the great break. Northwestern has been comparatively steady. Ohio, Mississippi and Western Union have been neglected. It is said a large amount of Northwestern preferred bonds were lat ly bought for Amsterdam bankers. The market at the close was firmer and the highest quotations of the day were made. The volume of business night. It is reported that Woodward offers to settle in full with notes at 2, 3, 4, and 5 years with interest.

Money abundant at 3 per cent.

State bonds dull and heavy. The only transactions were in Missouris.

THE Ravel-Martinetti Troupe matinee this afternoon.

DIVINE service will be held in the Union School building, Hydetown, to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, by the rector of the Episcopal Church.

A MRS. GREENTHAL was relieved of her porte-monie in the depot at the Centre on Thursday night, while getting on the train. Beware of a crowd and pick-pockets.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—Services to-morrow morning at 10½ o'clock, by the pastor. Sermon in the evening, at 8 o'clock, by Rev. Dr. Pershing, President of Pittsburgh Female College.

NEW STRIKE.—Roy, Couch & Chittenden's new well, near J. B. Kerr's house, which spouted so largely Friday, was tubed yesterday and the pump started at six o'clock last evening. The oil came with great volume, but we are unable as yet to report the actual production.

REAL ESTATE SALES.—P. Hoenig to J. Hoenig, full lot and two-story house, on Main street, third house east from Martin. Consideration $5,0000.

J. H. Bross, Jr., to Snoville, lot 20 by 68, with two-story frame house, south side of Pine, second house west of Washington street. Consideration $1,500.

THE CROPS HEREABOUTS.—Mr. Parker of Townville, informs us that the corn and potatoes in his section have been considerably injured by frost, which appeared to run in streaks through the fields on the low lands, sparing some parts and blighting others. She gross crop, too, he says will be light, owing to the late severe drought.

Why will tenants continue to pay such high rents when Bross & Son are selling at such low prices. Take these examples, property sold by them yesterday for $4,000, renting for $1,600, and property sold by them on Wednesday for $1,500, renting for $400; Bross & Son are still offering for a week to come, lots for $500, and houses and lots for $1 300.

THERE will be a trotting race this afternoon at the Driving Park between the horses "Joe Wright" and "First Sand," for $100. The race will commence at 2½ o'clock. "First Sand" won the second money, and "Joe Wright" the third, in the second race on the Fourth. The horses are closely matched in speed, and a good race may be expected. Admission fifty cents.

LAST evening as a gentleman was riding a spirited gray horse by the Novelty Theater while the band was playing outside on the balcony, the animal suddenly took fright and threw his rider. Fortunately he struck in a soft spot in the road and escaped uninjured. He remounted the horse and rode him back and forth in front of the theater until the horse became used to the music and had conquered his fear.

RUNAWAY.—Major F. Benedict, while riding out yesterday afternoon, near the Johnson House, found it a tough match to control his splendid bays. They took fright and in passing the teams upon the road, which was quite crowded, got the wheels off the bank, and were in danger of upsetting the carriage. As it was, Mr. B. and his friends were thrown out, the tongue was broken, and the horses ran away. No one was seriously hurt.

THE RAVEL-MARTINETTI TROUPE.—These people, whose fame in pantomime has become world-wide, appear this afternoon and evening in two of their best pieces, "Jocko, or the Brazilian Ape," and "The Mystic Gift." In every place where they have performed they have received unbounded applause from crowded houses. They give a varied and entertaining performance which never fails to please the most fastidious, as it is in every sense decorous and moral.

PERSONAL.—Our respected townsman, Mr. Lehman Ullman, of the firm of J. Ullman & Bro., sails from New York today in the Inman steamer "City of Brussels" for Liverpool. Thence he will take passage for Havre, and journey through France to Sierentz, a city of the province of Alsace, his former home, which he revisits after an absence of nine years. With many others we join in wishing him a safe journey, and as speedy a return as the enjoyments of Fatherland will allow.

—Sheriff Hall has returned from a two week's stay at Nantucket, Mass. We understand he struggled manfully with the blue fish in the waters of the Atlantic, and succeeded in capturing about fifty large ones. This last report, however, needs confirmation.

ANOTHER HALSTEAD CASE.—The Halstead case came near having a parallel in Titusville yesterday, in the open street and broad daylight, with only this variation, that it was here a case of two women fighting over one man; and the original was two men going frantic and murderous over one woman. We suppress the name of the individual who is the object of such female partiality, not to spare the feelings of his family, but simply because we don't know who he is. But Annie and Sarah agreed to settle the point of possession by hard knocks, and so went for each other, tearing hair and clothes, and striking out from the shoulder. A crowd formed, near the post office, a ring for the gladiators, but Sarah finding herself no match for the other Amazon, betook herself to Squire Strouse's for vindication. Here Annie came with the olive branch of peace. The Squire not having the man to give possession, imposed equal costs on each, and then sent them adrift with an admonition.

DON'T fail to see those original artistes at the Opera House this afternoon and evening.

The Sunday Question in Relation to the Oil Business.

We hear a good deal about the Sunday question, and how that day should be observed, and what the law requires, and what the Bible enjoins. The economist tells us how much the health of man and beast depends upon a seventh day of rest in a week of labor. The historian points to the violation of the Lord's Day as the providential cause of the frightful immorality of the French or Parisian people. All this, and then we have the advocates of the relaxation of the strict law of the Sabbath on special grounds of convenience and necessity and social benefit. One says, open your public libraries; another, open the saloons for the foreign born, and let him live according to his custom. No doubt, with all the strictness of law, and all the sanctions of the Christian religion, Sunday is observed with more of outward form and ceremony than according to the Puritan or Hebrew spirit of true religious rest and worship. To be sure, the stores are closed. There is no trading, or buying, or marketing. The law treats as void contracts entered into on that day. The public offices are closed, the courts of justice are shut, the day seems too holy for the administration of justice. The plow stands still, and the loom and the anvil give no sound. A hush pervades the air, a solemn stillness and a calm only broken by the chime or toll of church bells. Every city is, like Jerusalem of old, with its Sabbath-keeping population, going up to the temples of God from dawn to eve to worship. The Catholic is the most devout of all, the earliest riser. The Protestants, too, are pretty regular church goers, and feel bound to look and behave with orthodox sobriety on that day. But it strikes us as rather anomalous that with all sorts of preaching, and the exposition of both abstract truths and principles, as well as points of practical morality, little or nothing is said in these parts about the running of oil wells on the Sabbath. It is hard to tell how to account for this silence. Perhaps we ought to conclude that the custom is all right—is not in conflict with the Higher Law. It would be interesting to get at the views of our ministers on this point. We should be pleased to publish the opinions they may hold upon it. They are the men surely to enlighten us in regard to our religious duty on all matters; and the more boldly and sincerely they come out and define their position, the better it will be. Perhaps it is inbecoming in the secular press, which is often deemed little better than profane, to meddle with high matters of conscience and religious obligation; and therefore this sphere had better be left to those who bear the holy seal of the ministry. However, we reverently refer to the subject from a stand point of our own, and make the following points:

First—That a great deal of capital is withheld from investment in the oil business on account of the Sunday work connected therewith. It may seem strange, but it is nevertheless true, that there is a great deal of religious fanaticism or enthusiasm of religious virtue among the prosperous business men of the day.

Second—A good many men of sensitive consciences are going out of the oil business on account of this same Sunday work.

Third—It is an open question whether the producing class would not realize just as much money or profit out of their wells in the end, take the year round, by letting them rest on Sunday as they do now. If less oil was produced, would not a corresponding advance in price make up for the deficiency?

Here is a field for pulpit ministration. Is the custom of running oil wells on the Christian Sabbath by human labor, an established one, and if yes, is there any Divine law against it? Is this a work of necessity or mercy, etc? Thus the matter comes home to every man's conscience or interest, who is in the business. Does it pay? Why should the oil man drill a well, or pump a well on Sunday, or engage it done, which is the same thing, when he can't buy a pound of cable of any dealer or get a sucker rod jointed, a casing threaded by any mechanic in any shop in Titusville, on that day; when he can't buy a chop, or a loaf of bread, an article of clothing, etc? It is a pretty hard case for the oil man. Now, is society all wrong and absurd in its customs, and government tyrannical and foolish in its laws, or is the oil business an exceptional business, and the oil man to be judged by no standards that apply to other classes?

We were called upon a few weeks ago by a very successful producer and a respectable gentleman, whose mind had been a good deal exercised on this question, and who urged us to say something about it.

It is a peculiar case, and attended with difficulties and embarrassements which only producers can appreciate and explain. We have been promised by a producer of many years experience and observation, his views upon it, and a discussion of the question in some of its important bearings.

J. ULLMAN & BRO, DRY GOODS MERCHANTS.—Among our successful business houses in Titusville we notice the firm of J. Ullman & Bro., dry goods merchants. These gentlemen started the dry goods business in our city when Titusville was a borough; they have increased their store and stock according to the times, until now the establishment of J. Ullman & Bro. is one of the leading dry goods houses in the city. Their store in the Chase & Stewart block is elegantly furnished, large, roomy and well lighted, full of the choicest stock of goods adapted for the finest trade, as well as for the working classes, farmers and others. They always buy a large quantity at a time, and seem to sell cheap, as one can always notice their store full of customers. Mr. L. Ullman is about leaving for Europe, where he will stay a few months, partly to visit his relations, but mostly to make purchases in England and France of such goods as silks, velvets, laces, etc. Mr. Ullman is an old dry goods merchant and is well acquainted with the finest qualities of goods. Next fall he will be able to supply his customers with the finest qualities of imported goods, directly of his own importation, saving a nice profit from the importers.

AT THE MANSION HOUSE.—Large numbers are now daily consulting Dr Sibbet for their falling and diseased hair, skin and scalp diseases, prematurely gray hair and loss of hair. Remember that no reliable tonic for the hair and scalp can be found in the market. Tonics must be adapted to the needs of each case, or they are worthless. An examination of the scalp is necessary in all cases, so that the remedy can be prepared accordingly. Office hours from 2 to 8 o'clock p. m.

NOTICE.—On and after July 7th, 1871, our store will be closed every Friday evening at 7 o'clock, and reopen every Saturday at 6 o'clock p. m.

Judge Lowrie's Opinion

IN THE CASE OF R. D. FLETCHER AND OTHERS AGAINST THE TITUSVILLE GAS AND WATER CO., STEPHEN PARIBI, J. H. KING AND JOHN O'NEILL.

This important case, which has excited so much local interest for the past year, has at last reached a point where the defendants are required by the Court to account for all monies received and expended by them, as Directors. In March, 1870, Judge Johnson granted a preliminary injunction restraining the defendants from issuing and transferring stock. A bill having been filed, on the 17th of May, upon hearing of affidavits of respective parties, he took the management of the Company from the defendants, and placed it in the hands of Mr. L. H. Severance as Receiver. The defendants appealed to the Supreme Court, where the case was argued by Judge Dereckson for the defendants, and F. B. Guthrie, Esq., for plaintiffs, and the decision of Judge Johnson was affirmed. Defendants afterwards answered, and Roger Sherman, Esq., of Titusville, was appointed Master to take the testimony and give his opinion thereon. The testimony was voluminous, and in an able report the Master decided that defendants should account. To the Master's report defendants' counsel filed exceptions, which were argued at length two weeks ago before Judge Lowrie, and after a very careful and full examination of all the evidence before the Master, Judge Lowrie yesterday delivered an opinion, sustaining the Master's report. The lateness of the hour at which, through the courtesy of Mr. Guthrie, we received the opinion, prevents us from publishing it to-day.

Universalist society—its Organization and History.

A church building was first erected and dedicated in the summer of 1849. A society was organized and a constitution adopted during the same year, the constitution being signed by about fifty persons, several of whom are still members. The old church building was used more or less for religious services during the space of sixteen years, at the end of which time it was sold, and the proceeds applied to a new building.

The original church is still standing, though made over, and now used as a dwelling house. In the summer of 1865 the new church was completed. It has never been occupied by a Universalist for any great length of time, although occasional preaching has been had.

The executive officers of this society consist of a board of three trustees. Any person of good moral character may become a member by signing the confession of faith, which was adopted by the general convention of Universalists at Winchester, New Hampshire, in 1803, and every person not a member who contributes to its support, may be entitled to a vote. The following is the Confession of Faith, which is not to be considered as binding upon the conscience, but as a declaration of faith, and rule of practice:

Article 1st—We believe that the holy scriptures of the old and new Testaments contain a revelation of the character of God, and of the duty, interest and final destination of mankind.

Article 2d.—We believe that there is one God, whose nature is love, revealed in one Lord Jesus Christ, by one holy spirit of grace, who will finally restore the whole family of mankind to holiness and happiness.

Article 3d.—We believe that holiness and true happiness are inseparably connected, and that believers ought to be careful to maintain order and practice good works, for these things are good and profitable unto men.

The number of members of the society who now regularly attend is about one hundred, and the number of subscribers to its support is over one hundred. There has never been a church organization with the rite of baptism and the eucharist, but these ordinances are heartily approved by the church at large, and will soon be respected by this parish.

On the first Sunday in June last the Society unanimously called to its pastorate Rev. J. Murray Bailey, who was last settled in Troy, New York.

His engagement commenced on the 1st of June, and he was formally installed as pastor on Thursday evening last. Henceforth the Society will have regular services, and hope to secure a successful and prosperous church. The audience have of late been steadily increasing and a Sunday school has been commenced under the lead of a competent superintendent. An interesting Bible class has also been formed which is conducted by the pastor.

The church committee, society and pastor extend a cordial invitation to all persons who are of liberal Christian faith, or are now not connected with other churches, to attend divine service at their church and participate with them.

The church seats are free to all. Voluntary contributions will be received at the church, or by the Treasurer, O. M. Hayes.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.

The Pastor will preach a special sermon to morrow morning, appropriate to the newly assumed relations with the society. The floral decorations of Thursday night will remain in the church over Sunday. Theme of the evening's discourse—"The true grounds of Christian unity."

RAISING THE BODIES.—In the case of recent accidental drowning, in the Hackensack River, N. J., several persons made attempts to recover the body, but without success. A French Canadian named Busche, then undertook the job, and is reported to have proceeded after the following scientific manner. Having supplied himself with some glass gallon jars and a quantity of unslacked lime he went in a boat to the place where the man was seen to go down. One of the jars was filled half full of lime, then filled up with water and tightly corked. It was then dropped into the water, and soon after exploded at the bottom of the river with a loud report. After the third trial, each time in a different place, the body arose to the surface and was secured.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.—We learn that a man named Patrick Gleason fell from the top of the derrick, a distance of 52 feet, at the Hess & Turbell well, on the Shaw farm, Thursday afternoon, receiving fearful injuries, which will probably result fatally. He had gone up to the top of the derrick for some unknown purpose during the heavy rain, and starting to come down it is supposed slipped and fell. His body struck the walking beam on its downward course, and thence bounded off falling on the derrick floor, his head striking a block near the conductor hole. Gleason's shoulder is broken, one arm smashed, is terribly bruised about the back, and has a portion of his scalp torn off, and it is thought has received internal injuries of a serious nature. He will probably not recover.—Pet. Centre Record.

Old Merchants in Trouble.

A STARTLING SENSATION IN COMMERCIAL CIRCLES—GRAVE CHARGES OF EMBEZZLEMENT, FRAUD AND CONSPIRACY—THE ACCUSED OLD RESIDENTS AND BUSINESS MEN—THE DETAILS OF THE ALLEGATIONS—$30,000 BAIL REQUIRED—ONE OF THE ACCUSED ARRESTED—THE OTHER ON HIS WAY TO THE CITY.

From the Pittsburgh Gazette, July 7.

Within a few days past a sensation in commercial circles has been developing and yesterday it had reached that stage when the publication of the facts was rendered possible. The case is one in which two of our hitherto most highly respected citizens are involved, and as such the proceedings thus far have occasioned great pain to their many friends, who have looked forward to the result with confident feelings that all will be satisfactorily explained. An understanding of the matter may be had from the following which is a copy of an information made by Mr. Thomas Chess, of Franklin, before Alderman McMasters, a few days ago.

THE ALLEGED FRAUD.

Commonwealth vs. Isaac M. Pennock:

Personally came Thomas Chess, who deposed that Isaac M. Pennock, "devising, practicing and falsely and unlawfully, fraudulently and deceitfully intending to cheat and defraud" the said Thomas Chess, did about the 27th of October, A. D. 1870, write a certain letter (in substance) as follows: "Will be obliged to draw on you at sight, 28th inst. (to-morrow), for $1,250—to pay $1,373 39—two drafts duo to-morrow. We also enclose you to-day for your acceptance six drafts at forty days for $397 55—fifty days $396 15—sixty days $391 84—seventy days $393 37—eighty days $399 73—ninety days $391.25. Return these by first mail, so that we may get them discounted and pay the drafts drawn on you recently, &c., and oblige,

Yours truly,
PENNOCK & BEESON,
By I. M. P.

"You will please return the drafts enclosed at once, and early in the morning (28 h) say by telegraph at our cost. You are authorized to draw on me at sight for twelve hundred and fifty dollars. Do not neglect this, and oblige,

Yours truly, PENNOCK & BEESON.
Per I. M. P."

That by the said fraudulent promise contained in the letter of the 27th of October, 1870, for the purpose of obtaining the signature of the said Thomas Chess to the said drafts, with intent to cheat and defraud him of the same, and by the false pretence that the same would be applied to pay other drafts and obligations of the said Thomas W. Chess, made by the said Isaac M. Pennock to the said Thomas Chess, did procure the said Thomas Chess to accept said drafts or the purpose of having them applied to the payment of other obligations of the said Thomas Chess, to-wit: Draft for $870 31, draft for $398 70, draft for $600 00, draft for $626 20, drawn by T. Chess on the said Pennock & Beeson—fraudulently applied the proceeds of the same to the use of himself and father, Joseph Pennock—for this purpose did dispose of the same

Sworn and subscribed before me, etc.
S. McMASTERS, Alderman.

THE CONSPIRACY CASE.

A second information, made at the same time, reads as follows:

Commonwealth vs. Isaac M. Pennock and Joseph Pennock.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, city of Pittsburgh, ss:

Before me the subscriber, an Alderman in and for the said city, personally came Wm. M. Faber, Thomas Chess and Edmund Tabor, who upon oath administered according to law, doth depose and say that between the 9th day of February, 1869, and the 25th day of December, 1870, the said Isaac M. Pennock and Joseph Pennock, unlawfully did conspire together and agree to cheat and defraud the said Wm. M. Faber, Thomas Chess, and Macomber, Taber & Co., and other creditors of the firm of Pennock & Beeson, of their monies, goods and chattels, and did then and there, at the time and times aforesaid, in the county aforesaid, together unlawfully cheat and defraud Albert G. Beeson, of the said Pennock & Beeson, Thomas Chess, Wm. M. Tabor, Macomber, Tabor & Co., and other creditors of the said firm of Pennock, of large sums of money, goods and chattels—to wit: $80,000 and upwards—complainants therefore desire that a warrant may issue and the aforesaid defendants, Isaac M. Pennock and Joseph Pennock, may be arrested and held to answer this charge of conspiracy. And further deponent saith not.

[Signed] WM. M. TABOR,
THOMAS CHESS,
EDMUND FABER.

Sworn and subscribed before me, etc.
S. McMASTERS, Alderman.

THE EMBEZZLEMENT.

A third information is also made by Thomas Chess, charging Isaac M. Pennock with embezzlement, in that holding a power of attorney from said Thomas Chess, he did fraudulently use the same for other than the text of the same called for, with intent to defraud and cheat Mr. Chess, having made drafts, accepted by Chess, and appropriated the proceeds to his own use and benefit of Joseph Pennock, his father.

The counsel engaged in the case were Col. J. K. Kerr and John Burton, Esq., for the prosecution, and T. M. Marshall, Esq., for the defence.

The accused were members of the firm of Pennock & Beeson, oil dealers, and it is in connection with the business transactions of that firm that the alleged criminal proceedings were conducted. The firm a few months ago dissolved and the allegation is that these grave directions were discovered while the partnership affairs were being settled up.

As soon as the informations were made the officers arrested Mr. Isaac M Pennock, who, when taken before the magistrate, gave bail in the sum of $30,000, Alfred Patterson, Esq., becoming his surety. Mr. Joseph Pennock is a resident of Philadelphia, but is now on his way to this city in charge of the officers.

Both of the accused are gentlemen well known in the social and business circles of Pittsburgh, where they have always been held in the highest esteem. Both has been engaged in extensive business in former years, but through complications lost all. It is but proper to say that thus far but one side of the story has been heard, and public judgment should be withheld until the other is known.

New Mode of Extinguishing Fires.

The following article from the Scientific American expresses a doubt as to the practicability of utilizing carbonic acid gas for extinguishing fires in cities. The modus operandi contemplated is to supply the gas through street mains, so that the water from the fire engines could be conveniently charged with the gas, and the carbonic acid water be used for extinguishing fires. In large cities where woodwork and material which water can extinguish is on fire, water is decidedly the best and the safest, as well as the cheapest and most practicable extinguisher. Where oil is on fire and water has no effect upon it, then is the time that carbonic acid gas may become serviceable. It might answer very well for refineries where large stocks of petroleum are confined in tanks and where there is no danger of asphyxiating people, but in private houses, in crowded streets, or in inhabited buildings, the plan would be of questionable utility. The Scientific American says:

"It is well known that fires in coal mines have been extinguished by pumping in vast volumes of carbonic acid and afterwards cooling down the adits by water. How far such a method would succeed in the open air and with burning houses is a question that can only be determined by actual experiment. One of the best ways of driving carbonic acid out of caves and wells is to let down a red hot cannon ball. The rarefaction and expansion produced by the heat soon displaces the carbonic acid, and renders a descent in such a place possible. This experiment, frequently shown in the chemical lecture room, would seem to throw some doubt upon the probable success of any attempt to play a stream of carbonic acid upon a burning building. Another question to be considered is the one of heat of the combustible material. If it were possible to stop the combustion by a stream of gas, the great heat would re-ignite everything the moment the air was allowed free access, unless, as in the case of the coal mine, great volumes of water were poured on to cool everything down below the point of ignition. If this be true, it would be easier to put out the fire by water in the first place than to be at the expense of double engines for gas and water. Another difficulty may arise in the transportation of carbonic acid through iron tubes. It is well known that this gas can be easily split up or dissociated by passing through a system of heated tubes, and although it is not probable that the same thing would take place with cold iron mains, it might be well to institute an experiment or two before laying down a few hundred miles of pipe. When a fire is put out by water, the intrepid firemen are often deluged with water to cool them and to protect them from danger. In the case of carbonic acid, every living being would have to keep at a safe distance, and a bad leakage or an unfortunate aiming of the pipe might produce disastrous consequences.

"We understand that at the last session of the Legislature, a law was passed authorizing a company to lay pipes, three feet beneath the level of the streets of New York, for the purpose of extinguishing fires by carbonic acid. It is intended to convey the gas in the same way as illuminating gas is furnished to consumers, from large reservoirs or gasometers, and to have—we cannot call them hydrants—but something on the same plan, for attaching hose all over the city, ready to put out any fires that may occur.

"Whether private houses are to be furnished with double pipes so as to enable the gas men to deluge them if occasion should require, we are not informed. Nor is anything said in the act of incorporation about furnishing free soda water by saturating the Croton reservoir with the gas. The whole scheme looks surprisious, and we should really like to know if the project has ever been seriously entertained."

Restoration of Spring Elections.

The following, passed at the late session of the Legislature, restores the spring elections throughout the State in 1871, with the single exception of Dauphin county:

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the fifteenth section of an act entitled an act further supplemental to the act relative to the elections in this Commonwealth, approved April seventeenth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, be and the same is hereby repealed, and that in the year Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, and annually thereafter, all elections for city, ward, borough, township, and election districts in the different cities and counties of said Commonwealth, shall be on the days and at the times they were held as provided by law in the different cities, wards, boroughs and townships in said counties, prior to the seventeenth of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, the date of the passage of the act aforesaid.

Sec. 2. That the term of the different city, ward, borough, township and election officers in said counties to be elected at the elections to be held in one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, shall begin when the terms of such officers heretofore elected shall expire, and so with such officers annually thereafter as provided by law prior to the passage of the act of seventeenth of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine. Provided, term of assessors for the present year shall extend until their successors are duly elected and qualified pursuant to this act; provided further, this act shall not apply to any elections provided for special laws since the passage of the act of April seventeenth, eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, and that the said elections in the county of Clearfield shall be held on the last Friday in December in each year.

The above law applies only to localities where they were held by law previous to April 17th, 1869.

WHO'S TO BLAME?—If you have tried ever so many times to have good, light, sweet biscuit for tea, and just as often as you have tried have failed, until you have almost determined to try no more, because, do your best, they will not come out of the oven looking the way you would have them; they are tough and heavy, and do not raise, and have streaks of yellow running through them, and you feel almost ashamed to place them on your table. We ask who's to blame? when all this could be avoided, and it lies in your power to have biscuit equal to any by using the Banner Baking Powder, each can of which contains a measure, and full directions go with it, by following which all mistakes are avoided, and your biscuits, cakes, &c., will be lighter, sweeter and more healthful than ever before. The Universal Safeguard.—It is useless for State Legislatures to pass laws for the preservation of the public health, if the great law of self-preservation, which depends for its enforcement upon the will of the individual, is suffered to remain a dead-letter.

There is scarcely an adult member of the community, of either sex, in the country, who has not seen the testimony in favor of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, furnished over their own signatures by persons of acknowledged eminence in science, literature, art, commerce, and every department of business and professional life. These witnesses have declared in the most explicit terms that the preparation is a safeguard against epidemics, a sovereign remedy for dyspepsia, a valuable antibilious medicine, a promoter of appetite, a genial and harmless stimulant, a good acclimating medicine, a strengthener of the nerves, a general invigorant, a protection against the deleterious effects of malaria and impure water, and that it imparts a degree of vigor and activity to the vital forces which is not communicated by any other of the tonics and stomachics in use. Under these circumstances the self-preservative law of nature should teach every rational person who, either by reason of inherent debility or in consequence of exposure to unwholesome influences, is in peril of losing the greatest of all temporal blessings, health, the importance of using the Bitters as a defensive medicine. Dyspeptics who neglect to give it a trial are simply their own enemies. It is guaranteed to cure indigestion in all its forms, and the billious and nervous will find nothing in the whole range of official and proprietary medicines which will afford them the same relief.

THE SWALLOW.

BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

Swallow from beyond the sea,
That with every dawning day,
Sitting on the balcony,
Thinkest that plaint ff lay,
What is it that thou tellest me,
Swallow from beyond the sea?

Happy thou for him who wont
From the and forgot his mate,
Lamentest to my lement,
Widowed, lone'y, desolate.
Ever then lament with me
Swallow from beyond the sea!

Happier yet art thou than I,
Thou thy trusty wings may bear,
Over lake and cliff to fly,
Filling with thy cries the air,
Calling him continually,
Swallow from beyond the sea!

Could I too! But I must pine
In this dungeon close and low,
Where the sun can never shine,
Where the breeze can never blow,
Where my voice scarce reaches twice,
Swallow from beyond the sea!

New September days are near,
Thou to distant lands will dy;
In another hemisphere
Other streams shall hear thy cry,
O her hills shall answer thee,
Swallow from beyond the sea!

Then shall I when daylight slows,
Waking to the sense of pain,
Midst the wintry frost and snows,
Think I hear thy notes again—
Notes that seem to grieve for me,
Swallow from beyond the sea!

Planted here upon the ground,
Thou shalt find a cross in spring;
There, as evening gathers round,
Swallow, come and rest thy wing;
Chant a strain of peace to me,
Swallow from beyond the sea!

The police of Baltimore made 2,247 arrests last month.

Two Maine girls rowed four miles in a boat alone one day last week.

They has a ghost, but the owner of the house emphatically denies the story.

And now Canada is complaining of the way in which its census has just been taken.

For thirty-one years William S. Stoddard has been a watchman at the Massachusetts State House.

John L. Love, the Republican candidate for Attorney-General of California, is a son of the late Harlow Love, formerly of Buffalo. His wife is a Buffalo lady, whom he married last Fall.

The Maryland Court of Appeals has affirmed the judgment of the lower Court fo. $20,000 against the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, of Newark, in favor of the widow of the late Rev. Henry A. Wise, Jr, of Baltimore.

Gen. Burnside addressed the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce on Saturday, and said that he was glad to meet the merchants under such different circumstances from those in which he last saw them. Then their minds, he said, were all resting on the chances of war, and, in fact, upon the probabilities of maintaining the integrity of our government. Now, happily, we are free from all those annoyances, and he had come among them to talk upon the pursuits of peace.

There is a clergyman in Pennsylvania who has precisely eighteen friends. At least he writes to a Chicago photographer that he is much pleased with the six photographs of himself he had received, and asks the price of one dozen additional, saying that his friends are delighted with the pictures, and he is "bound to give one of the new edition of his reflected self to each of them."

SOMETHING UNLOOKED FOR

Nevertheless a Fact!

J. C. HAMILTON.

Is prepared now to receive orders for, and execute the same in the best and finest style of the age, anything in the line of PAINTING, such as

House, Sign,
Carriage, Ornamental and Fresco Painting,
Graining,
Paper Hanging,
Decorative or Plain.

I have had the experience of years in the business, and am a PRACTICAL WORKMAN. This, together with the fact that I have in my employ the very best artists in the several branches, enumerated above that can be found, must be a Guarantee of Good Work.

I have secured the services of

MR. C. S. SMITH,

late of Philadelphia, who is a good practical decorator and fresco painter, and has proven himself master of his art, and has with him and carries the BEST OF REFERENCES from many different parts of the United States,

MR. T. U. FINCK,

my GRAINER, needs no commending, for his work tells wherever he works. I claim that with my experience and employe's talent, that I can give entire satisfaction in every part of the business, and do work as cheap as any other establishment of the kind in the county, or even better and cheaper considering the quality of my work, than any foreign talent that is in our midst. Now all, or any one that has anything in my line to do that will give me a chance, I will prove to their entire satisfaction that I can and will do any part or all that I assert herein, and even more. The Largest and Best Gas Pump in Use.

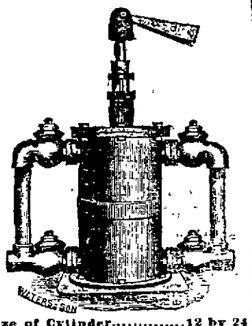
160 sold in 90 days, and give entire satisfaction.



Size of Cylinder.....12 by 24
Size of Valves.....3 inches
Weight of Pump.....500 lbs

This pump is not excelled for durability, simplicity and workmanship, and creates a greater vacuum with 5c to 40 per cent less power than any now in use. This Pump has Steel Spring Rings so constructed as to create a very slight friction, and are self-packing. The valves and ports are large, to admit of a free suction and discharge of the gas. The valve seats are protected by a leather gasket on the valve to obviate any wear to the valve seat or valve.
